We are on 30 acres of rolling hills and woods, on the Charlotte side, NC of Tryon, just 15 minutes from Tryon International Equestrian Center, an hour to Asheville, NC, Greenville/Spartanburg Airport, and an hour to the Charlotte (NC) Douglas International Airport, super convenient for our customers flying to a clinic or to pick up their new family member! The equestrian structures are excellent with a large fenced ring with a full course of jumps, wooded trails, and fields with natural jumps to enjoy. We have a nice barn with 8 large shaggy stalls, 5 transport stalls, hot/cold washrack, 4 large pastures, paddocks and a ride. The new electrical outlets and LED lighting make it as safe as it is functional. Ample parking with space to turn without backup makes it a breeze to get in and out. It's a great place to escape to learn more and really enjoy your horse. Charlotte has always been a passionate gardener, as much as her time allowed, and here they splurged and had the pool garden area professionally designed. Charlotte was so inspired by the colorful artwork and joyful garden of Leoma Lovegrove (of Matlache, FL) during her visit to her gallery in 2017, returned home (to the old farm) and began building and painting her garden furniture made from old fence boards. Everyone loved simple designs and bright colors, so when Tommy and Charlotte moved in they wanted to continue his vision. With a plethora of ideas, Charlotte called Paesaggi Paradiso to enter and lay plans for her dream garden designed around their sparkling pool. Inspired by granite slabs (recovered from downtown Charlotte when the sidewalks were replaced) and the stone harnesses of the existing pool deck, Dawn and Bill Shearin made large curved beds to showcase Charlotte's precious daylily collection of more than 100 different cultivars. Beds for its peonies and irises, as well as many old and new flowering plants and shrubs, are patiently waiting to be filled. Charlotte calls it her Gratitude Garden and wants visitors to have fun and enjoy the playful oasis designed to fill the senses of scent and heart with joy. Once we started spending time in the courtyard, we realized that we needed a shaded place to relax and enjoy the Our deck was hot hot, but it seemed like the perfect answer to give us the outdoor space we wanted. We had the deck covered and it quickly turned into the favorite room in the house. With an old chariot table made by my grandfather Clark, and a chandelier created with porcelain teacups collected by my grandmother Cannon as as it is a cheerful and bright place to sit, talk, meet our Toy Shelties and to enjoy the beautiful day. Contact us today to visit us and play with us on our new farm in the TRYON NC area! We have the perfect place for lessons, training and clinics! We like to have Dita Sheltie customers come and visit too! Please contact us to schedule your visit! Shetland Sheepdogs, or Shelties as they are often called, resemble the Collie. Although they are often called Miniature Collies or Toy Collies, the Sheltie is actually a completely separate breed. The breed evolved from its ancestors who once lived on the Shetland Islands off the north-east coast of Scotland. The Sheltie was developed as a hunting dog and guard and an intelligent and affectionate companion. The attention of the breed and its willingness to obey were qualities desired by both the crofter and the shepherd. Temperament Shelties have a very strong desire to please their owners and a huge capacity for love and affection. Each sheltie has its own personality. Some are more reserved, while others are very excitable and energetic. They are usually very easy to train and are responsive companions, as well as exceptional students and workers in events of obedience, mandia and agility. Shelties bred as pets develop lasting loyalty to their owners. The shelties are very attentive and protective, and bark to let you know that something is different in their kingdom. Their natural affinity for children makes them kind and affectionate companions. Unlike some breeds, there is little difference in temperament between male and female shelties. Both make wonderful companions and pets. Is a Sheltie right for your family? While Shelties possess many delicious qualities that make them rewarding companions, they also have two traits that can give a break to potential adopters: they have long hair to pour and bark. Before acquiring a Sheltie, you should carefully consider whether you are willing to assume the special responsibilities associated with these. Shelties are a double-layered breed and require a minimum of thorough brushing per week to maintain their coats. During sheds, daily attention is a must. Most Shelties adults lose their coat once a year. When the young blow their puppy coat, it seems as if there is fur everywhere, but this happens only once. Generally, males have heavier coats than females, and of course the larger the adult Sheltie, the more coat there will be to deal with. The other challenge for owning a Sheltie is that they are well-known barkers. To some extent, this varies with the individual, but as a race they are known to be vocal. And unlike some smaller breeds that are barky but baby voices, Shelties possess a penetrating cortex. Your neighbors may not appreciate the fact that your dog's ancestors always lived within three miles of the ocean, and had to be heard by the sound of surfing breaking, the call of marine animals, the blissful of lambs, and the 8th world of strong winds. Twenty. Colors The Sheltie is available in five favorite colors, all starting from white signs: the most common color is Sable, which ranges from golden brown to mahogany, with touches of black; Tricolor with black and tan; Blue Merle with blue-gray, black and tan; Bi-blue with blue-gray and black; and Bi-black with only black and white.
